Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1, 10, 15, 16, 19-22, 25, 26, 29-36, and 38-49 are allowed. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

As for claims 1, 21, 49, and all claims depending therefrom, the prior art of record fails to sufficiently describe or suggest a machine-readable medium having a set of executable instructions for causing a processor to perform a method of displaying position information of a mobile communication device; the method having the steps of recording in the machine-readable memory each communication activity of a communication interface, associating time data with each communication activity recorded, and periodically reading data stored on the machine-readable memory and writing the read data to a second machine-readable memory being periodically operatively coupled to the mobile communication device.

As for claim 10 the prior art of record fails to sufficiently describe or suggest a machine-readable medium having a set of executable instructions for causing a processor to perform a method of displaying position information of a mobile communication device; the method having the steps of recording in the machine-readable memory each communication activity of a communication interface, associating time data with each communication activity recorded, displaying at least one recorded communication activity; and reproducing communication content data associated with the displayed recorded communication activity, wherein the communication content data is one of text data and sound data; displaying a corresponding received position information, said corresponding received position information indicating a position of said mobile communication device during which the displayed communication activity occurred.

As for claims 15, 38, 43, 45, and all claims depending therefrom, the prior art of record fails to sufficiently describe or suggest a machine readable medium having a set of executable instructions for causing a processor to perform a method of displaying position information of a mobile communication device, said processor being operatively coupled to the mobile communication device, said mobile communication device including a machine readable memory, a display, a GPS device, a communication interface, and a timing element, said method comprising the steps of displaying, on the display of the mobile communication device a graphical map, receiving at the mobile communication device, a time range input signal indicating a period of time, said period of time defined by a starting time and an ending time, and displaying on the graphical map a plurality of recorded communication activity that occurred during the time specified by the time range input signal.

As for claims 19, 25, and all claims depending therefrom, the prior art of record fails to sufficiently describe or suggest a machine-readable medium having a set of executable instructions for causing a processor to perform a method of displaying position information of a mobile communication device; the method having the steps of receiving a time slot designation signal designating a time slot displayed on a graphical calendar; and displaying on the graphical map a plurality of position history icons, each of said position history icon indicating a position described by one of the periodically received position information that were received during the time period indicated by the designated time slot.

executable instructions for causing a processor to perform a method of displaying position information of a mobile communication device; the method having the steps of recording in the machine-readable memory each communication activity of the communication interface; associating time data with each communication activity recorded; receiving a time slot designation signal designating a time slot displayed on the graphical calendar; and displaying a plurality of recorded communication activity, wherein each of the recorded communication activity occurred during the period of time specified by the designated time slot.

As for claims 36, 39, 41, and all claims depending therefrom, the prior art of record fails to sufficiently describe or suggest a machine-readable medium having a set of executable instructions for causing a processor to perform a method of displaying position information of a mobile communication device; the method having the steps of recording in the machine-readable memory each communication activity of a communication interface, associating time data with each communication activity recorded, and associating a received position information with each communication activity.

These along with further limitations set forth by the claims render the application allowable over the prior art of record.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
